

International Awards Ceremony Recipient a Junior League Member

Two local Douglasville women were invited to participate in an international award ceremony at the United Nations recently. Heather Gavranovic, President of the Junior League of Douglas County and Anne Marie Colombo, State Public Affairs Committee member of the Junior Leagues of Georgia. The United Nations Association of New York recognized the International Junior Leagues for their work in the fight against human trafficking. The President of the Association of Junior Leagues International received an award along with other international winners like Ruchira Gupta who has fought human trafficking in India and is President of Apne Aap, she is also an Emmy winner for her documentary “The Selling of Innocents” and recipient of the Clinton Global Citizen Award for Commitment to Leadership in Civil Society.

Voluntarism is an integral part of making our community better. For over 20 years The Junior League of Douglas County, a non-profit group of women, have been serving organizations such as HeadStart, SHARE House, Boys & Girls Club, Douglas Senior Services and many more. If you are interested in serving others or learning more about this organization and how you can join, please visit their website at www.jldouglascounty.org
